

Carols in the Garden, School Lands Success,
Newcomers Meeting

December has arrived. Twinkling holiday lights are on display here in Blueridge making our dark evenings festive and bright. Please share photos of your favourite light displays to our Facebook page. Everyone is welcome to join us for Christmas Carols in the Sharing Garden this Saturday at 5 pm. There is snow on the local mountains, hope you get a chance to do some skiing, hiking or sledding in the snow this month. Wishing everyone a happy holiday from all of us at the Blueridge Community Association, serving the neighbourhoods of Blueridge and Seymour Heights in North Vancouver.

Second year!

Blueridge Sharing Garden
(Carnation @ Lytton Street)

Please join us THIS Saturday in the Blueridge Sharing Garden for 'Carols in the Garden'. The Windsor School Choir and keyboardist Kent Spencer will lead us in a number of holiday favourites. Bring a treat to share with everyone and enjoy the hot chocolate and apple cider on offer. Don't worry if you can't remember the words to your favourite carols - we have song books to share.

Since September, members of the Blueridge School Lands taskforce have been attending School Board meetings to make the case for keeping Blueridge Elementary School open. Our efforts have resulted in a special meeting with Superintendent of Schools Mark Pearmain and Secretary Treasurer Georgia Allison to discuss the school closure. The meeting will take place this month and we will let you know what the outcome is.

In January we will hold a special Blueridge Community Association meeting to welcome newcomers to Blueridge and Seymour Heights neighbourhoods. Over 50 families have moved here in 2016. We would like to invite newcomers (and ANYONE ELSE who'd like to attend) to join us on Tuesday January 10th in the library at Blueridge Elementary School for refreshments, to meet people from the neighbourhood, and to meet representatives from local schools and service organizations. For more info and to RSVP please drop us a line at
